Dear Rusty:

Thank you for the terra-cotta pots you designed for the Democratic National Convention. They are beautiful and so unique.

Bill and I were thrilled with the Convention and are working as hard as we can to ensure victory in November. Bill offers a comprehensive vision for the future of America. In a Clinton Administration, we will revive our economy, provide accessible and affordable health care for all and good jobs for the hard working people of our nation.

When Bill and I set out on this journey, I was well aware that there would be rough roads and tough times amidst the exhilaration, enthusiasm, hard work and long hours. But I don't think I fully realized what a great source of strength we would feel from the genuine expressions of love, concern and support of our many friends. It has been almost overwhelming. How fortunate we are!

Your project sounds like a wonderful idea. Good luck. I wish you success and once again, thank you for your thoughtfulness and continued support.

Sincerely yours,

Hillary Rodham Clinton

Dear Rusty:

This is just a short note to tell you how much I enjoyed working with you to provide the floral decorations for the Democratic Convention in New York. Without fail, each event was greatly enhanced by the beauty of your work. Your designs were superb and I was proud to be associated with the effort. In addition, your organizational skills certainly made my life easier in undertaking an event of this magnitude.

It was a pleasure working with you.

Sincerely,

Dear Rusty:

Now that the 1992 Campaign is behind us, I wanted to extend to you our gratitude for the wonderful flowers you designed for the 1992 Democratic National Convention. Your professionalism and dedication were much appreciated by the Convention staff.

Further, your designs elicited compliments from many of our guests. Indeed, they made every function room much more interesting and relaxed.

Again, on behalf of the Democratic National Committee, thank you for your assistance.

Sincerely,

Ronald H. Brown
